Ned Reynolds joined the staff of KY3, as sports director, in Springfield in 1967, remaining at his post until December 1st, 2014. His 47 year run at the station is the longest consecutive tenure at the same station in Missouri broadcasting history. Along the way, Reynolds has become the most recognizable face of sports television in the Ozarks and (arguably) in the entire state of Missouri.

In 2001, he began hosting the sports radio talk show, The Sports Reporters, a job he continues to this day. He is also the television voice of the Springfield Cardinals baseball team. He is a member of the Springfield Area Sports Hall of Fame as well as the Missouri Sports Hall of Fame and has also been inducted into the Silver Circle of the National Academy of Television Arts and Science (NATAS) Mid-America in 2014.

"I know of no one more deserving for the honor of being named a Missouri Sports Legend than Ned Reynolds. Ned's enthusiasm represents the energy we all need to achieve the professional success that he has enjoyed. His longevity represents a level of conviction each of us needs to stay the course during life's journey. Through his profession, he has become a friend to us all. Please join with me in honoring him as he will take his place among the elite of sports in Missouri."

Thanks,
